Why Daylilies?

- ◆ Come in many colors and a wide range of shapes and sizes
- ◆ Look great in almost any sunny landscape
- ◆ Bloom nearly everywhere with six or more hours of sun; adjust to most soil conditions and climates
- ◆ Bloom from summer through autumn in Northeastern Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula
- ◆ Need little attention; drought and pest resistant

All are welcome to attend our meetings and activities.

- ◆ February: Winter Meeting with Members’ Slideshows and Member Appreciation
- ◆ March: Spring Meeting with Speaker
- ◆ May: Daylily Auction and Adopt-a-Plant program
- ◆ July: Chit Chat at a Club Member’s Garden
- ◆ July: Bus or Carpool Trip to Visit Other Gardens
- ◆ July or August: Picnic at Club Member’s Garden
- ◆ September: Daylily Plant Sale- our major fundraising event
- ◆ November: Annual Meeting with Speaker and Luncheon.

The Bay Area Daylily Buds

The Bay Area Daylily Buds (a.k.a. B.A.D. Buds) organization was formed in 1999 by local daylily enthusiasts Leo Bordeleau and Phil and Luella Korth. Our mission is to promote and encourage the cultivation, scientific study, development and improvement of the genus Hermerocallis and to foster its public interest in Northeastern Wisconsin.

During the growing season B.A.D. Buds’ members are active in the development and maintenance of the B.A.D. Buds’ Daylily Display Beds located in the Green Bay Botanical Gardens. In 2014 the Display Beds were designated as a National AHS Display Garden. The colorful display of daylilies is enjoyed by garden visitors during the bloom season of late June to early September. The beds also are one of the sources of divisions for the May auction and the September plant sale.
